

Inventory Control Manager

Clean, organized, well-lit, meticulous, efficient – these are words that describe our finished goods warehouse. We are looking for someone great to manage our sizable inventory. You'll also engage and interact on a cross-functional level with many departments to improve upon inventory strategies and initiatives.

The Inventory Control Manager will be a HANDS-ON team member who will:

- Be responsible for every aspect of inventory management including conducting inventory audits, cycle counts, inventory maintenance and inventory tracking of all part deliveries from production, outgoing shipments and stock levels in our Wisconsin and North Carolina Warehouses
- Act as a liaison between department managers, customer service and schedulers to optimize and forecast the amount of product kept on hand
- Work alongside as well as manage and direct warehouse and shipping personnel
- Coordinate incoming and outgoing shipment activities to ensure product gets to its final destination on time and intact
- Support finance and sales department initiatives with providing inventory reports, pulling and analyzing data in the company ERP system

Why you're a perfect fit for the Inventory Control Manager role:

- You have a knack for organization
- You have 2-3 years of experience in working with inventory management software and forecasting strategies in a manufacturing environment
- You are analytical and love to problem-solve
- You hold a degree in business, logistics, systems engineering or supply chain management
- You have extensive budgeting and reporting experience and are skilled in using manufacturing software and the Microsoft Office Suite
